Even after flying for so many years, pilot's will encounter some interesting and unexpected situations that they never experienced before.

With over 20 years of flying as a charter pilot, Capt. Ben Taber has had numerous unforgettable moments in the cockpit. In this seminar, he will discuss his memorable times as a charter pilot, often when something did not go as planned and he was forced to adapt to a situation. In this seminar, learn how all pilots need to adapt quickly under pressure, exercise exceptional aeronautical decision making, and make use of all available resources during a flight. Join us to learn the whys and hows behind professional flying, and learn ways you can incorporate some of their practices into your own day-to-day flying.

Capt. Bennett Taber is a check airman and training captain with over 20 years and 18,000 hours of air charter experience throughout the
