

Flying in the Pacific Northwest and Crossing the Border into Canada

The Pacific Northwest is filled with countless picturesque sights and landmarks, and the Bay Area Fly Out Group (FOG) recently experienced that on an amazing flying trip through Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. The trip included amazing destinations such as Boeing Field, San Juan Islands, Vancouver BC, Victoria, Portland International and Shelter Cove. During this seminar you'll learn from our pilots first hand experience of how to navigate in this amazing part of the United States but also how to efficiently cross the border into Canada.

Hear from the pilots that will discuss some of the highlights from the trip which include traversing the Siskiyou Mountains, operating in busy airspace, flying safely with changing weather, crossing the border into Canada, landing at Vancouver, and the application of true cross-country flight planning. Any pilot can benefit learning from their experience.
