

Bakersfield Flying Club Presents--Aviation Weather Seminar with Miles Muzio

Join Bakersfield Flying Club along with CAU instructor and retired local television meteorologist Miles Muzio for an evening seminar on aviation weather designed to improve your flight planning and inflight decision making skills. Miles brings his enthusiasm for flying and years of experience in weather forecasting and reporting for an enjoyable presentation tailored to pilots of all experience levels. Maximize your ability to plan and safely fly in changing weather conditions. Review weather charts, briefings and inflight weather updating. Learn about upcoming weather patterns including El Nino and how to maximize your future recreational flying. Stay ahead of the weather, build your weather knowledge and hone your flight planning skills by attending this information packed seminar.

The Aviation Weather Seminar meeting room is located at California Aeronautical University's main building room # 209.
