FAASTeam Representatives,

The FAASTeam has produced a Flight Risk Assessment Tool (FRAT) Application for General Aviation Pilots and Flight Instructors and we're looking for beta testers to help us validate and refine the product before public release. We need to complete the beta test by the beginning of August 2016 so we'll have to move quickly. Here's a profile of who we're looking for:

FAASTeam Rep or Lead Rep (CFI preferred but not required)

Apple iPhone, iPad, or iPod user (An Android OS version may be produced later but this test is for Apple iOS only)

You can access the Beta Test Program here:

<https://avssp.faa.gov/avs/afsaast/FAASTeamReps/Lists/FRAT%20Beta%20Test/AllItems.aspx>

Select the "New Item" hyperlink which will open the description of the Beta Test and the associated forms/instructions necessary to participate.

If you can't access the site, please send an email to J.B.Williams@faa.gov. Please provide your full name and Apple ID (without password) JB will set you up for the beta test.
